For the past four years Anne has worked with donors who are interested in making a charitable gift to Duke, helping them navigate any tax or legal implications associated with the gifts. Prior to joining the gift planning team, Anne served as an Advancement Officer on the Major Gifts Team at Duke University Development and prior to that managed corporate, foundation and government fundraising at the Detroit Zoological Society. Anne is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame. Anne loves her job because she believes that passionate people can truly change the world in big and small ways through their gifts.
